Of Interest to Trappers

A. B. Shubert, Chicago, U. S. A., the largest house in the world, dealing exclusively in American raw furs, in a letter the editor says in part as follows:

Raw furs this coming winter will bring extremely high prices. There are small stocks in the primary markets in both North America and in Europe and conditions, at the present time, point to a very strong demand, as furs are surely very fashionable. A woman's wardrobe is not complete without one or more sets of furs. Even in mild climates, there are large quantities of fur overcoats being sold to gentlemen.

The present prices of American raw furs are compared with prices of few years ago, makes pleasant reading for the old trapper and dealer, but the tenderfoot in the fur game, it seems like an impossible story and if the "old timer's" didn't know the facts to be true, they would say: "Tell it to the marines". Why, it was only a few years ago that one could buy all the muskrats in Western Canada at 6¢ apiece and they sold as low as 4¢. Winter and spring collections last season, brought 15¢ to 55¢. The entire collection of northern musk could be bought at $1.50 to $2.00 for large prime skins. Now, they sell at $8.00 to $10.00. The best lynx sold in C. M. Lampron & Co's sale in London at $3.00, last season, $30.00 to $35.00 now paid for them. Marten that we now pay $9.00 for, sold for $2.00. The last day, when that South American ermine produced could be bought for $12.00, last season, $60.00 was paid for the large dark skin. The best collection of red fox was sold at $24.00 average. 75¢ a day the same collection would bring $7.00. White weasel we paid nothing for, because there was no market for them to day they bring 75¢ to $1.50. Otter, one could buy the best the earth produced at $5.00 to $6.00, to-day we pay $25.00 to $30.00 inland caught skins. Would you think it possible to buy the best silver fox that was ever trapped at $85.00?—that was the price. It takes a small fortune to buy it now. The cause of this tremendous advance in the value of North America raw furs is the keen competition created by the well known houses. Years ago, the country dealers and the large eastern dealers had it all their own way. Furs were bought at any old price. One would think that this wonderful advance in value would drive the consumer of furs out of the market and prohibit the sale of manufactured goods. Possibly it will in the future, but up to the present time the consumer seems to like it. The trapper must be paid for the hardship he endures and if "Shubert" made the fur market, furs would be much higher, as the average trapper don't get the collection of furs he did years ago. How long the demand will last no one can tell—if he could—he would be a wise man and could give Solomon cards and spades and "beat him to it" at the guessing game.

Fire at Frank

The town of Frank was aroused about 2 o'clock on Monday morning by the shrill whistle at the coal company's plant, summoning assistance to the call of "fire." Flames were found issuing through the rear of the Miners' hotel and on investigation it was found that fire had gained considerable headway in the kitchen and apartments above it. The Frank fireman, under Chief McGowan, were soon on the scene with a good stretch of hose and a heavy stream of water was brought to bear upon the threatening elements. In a very short time all had apparently been extinguished and the fireman and others repaired to their respective homes, but in the meantime some fire fighters had become wafted between the rafters and to break out in the rear corner of the building where it very soon began to play havoc with the walls and extended right to the roof. The second alarm was given and another hurried response but what might have been a most serious conflagration.

How the frame of the building was saved is certainly a miracle and reflects great credit upon Chief McGowan and his husky men. At the first summons practically the whole town of Frank responded, and with good water pressure there was no need of awakening volunteers from the neighboring towns.

At the time of the fire the wind which had blown a hurricane and wrought considerable damage to property during the previous twenty-four hours, had abated to almost a calm. It is the opinion of most people that had the out-break occurred an hour earlier than it did, the entire block would have been reduced to ashes.

The Miners' hotel had been used for the past few months as a rooming and meal house for miners, its liquor license having expired in June last.

Quite a number of men were sleeping in the house at the time of the alarm, but all were gotten out safely.

The damage is so extensive that it is hardly probable the building will be repaired. The beds and furnishings of several rooms were totally destroyed, while that of all the other rooms with but one or two exceptions were more or less damaged by water. The kitchen was wrecked considerably, as was also the dining room and office.

A store house nearby was caught by the flames, but was extinguished before any serious damage was done.

The loss, which will total up several thousands of dollars, was partly covered by insurance.

The ball given at the Rocky Mountain Sanatorium on Wednesday night was a decided success and acknowledged by all who attended as one of those merriest of merry times. Dancing was kept up till after 3 a.m. Thursday.

The loss to C. V. O'Hara is a serious one, he having considerable furniture and other valuables in the building most of which were considerably damaged.

The Miners' hotel is owned by the Canadian Coal Consolidated Company.

but unforeseen circumstances prevented the visit of the installing officials. A large number of applications have been made for advancement, and it is expected that the new lodge will be a strong one.

Bills are circulated announcing a big whist drive and dance to take place at the Bellevue hall on Monday night next. Judging by the success of a similar affair given a short while ago by the ladies of Bellevue who have the better interests of the poor bachelors at heart, there will likely be a large attendance from Blairmore and other towns to participate in the functions of the Bellevue Bachelors' Forward Movement on Monday night.

There are yet two or three households in the Crows' Nest Pass who have not been supplied with greeting cards this season by the "Blairmore Enterprise." These may not have friends, but if they have, we would suggest that they call and leave their order at once, as the ordering time is about expired. Hand-Bell Ringers and Entertainers To-night

The following interesting comment from United States papers refers to the Hand Bell Ringers and Entertainers who appear at the Blairmore opera house this Friday evening.

Sheridan, Wyo. - Judging from the applause given the Imperial Band Bell Ringers, the Sheridan public has seldom been more pleased with a musical entertainment. The program was pleasingly unique, and testified to the versatility and cleverness of the entire troupe. Both in opera and popular music the Bell Ringers demonstrated their ability to fill the bill to the delight and satisfaction of the audience. Post, Oct. 10, 1911.

Helena, Mont. - The Bell Ringers were far superior to anything ever witnessed in this part of the country, and it was necessary for them to render several encores before the people would subside in their loud outbursts of enthusiasm. The double quartette brought down the applause of the house, while the bell selection from "H. H. Thorough" astonished the vast crowd. - Independent, Oct. 12, 1911.

Work of the Storm

The wind storm of Sunday night last was the heaviest in the memory of the oldest residents of the Crows' Nest Pass. From all points come reports of buildings being upturned or moved from their foundations, or of chimneys, sign-boards, windows and other fixtures being destroyed.

Large trees that have endured the breeze for a century were blown from their roots, others smashed like glass at the trunk.

In some of the towns considerable unbusinessness reigned among the inhabitants, until the calm of Monday brought a welcome relief.

The old shed of the Imperial Oil Co., at Frank, was blown down and smashed to splinters in the wind storm of Sunday last.

One of the houses of the West Canadian Collieries, which had been moved from Lillie and erected on the new Blairmore townsite, was felled by the heavy wind of Sunday last.

Build Church to Seat 10,000 People

Dr. J. L. Gordon, pastor of the First Congregational church of Winnipeg, is to have a half million dollar edifice with seating capacity of 10,000. It is to be the most unique house of worship of its kind in Canada, if not on the continent. The pulpit is to be in the centre and the seats will rise like an amphitheatre around the sides. A committee will visit principal points in Canada and the States before deciding the architectural details and quality of material. The old church is offered for sale at a quarter of a million. The new site, the southwest corner of Vaughan and St. Mary's streets has been bought for $150,000 from Alexander McDonald. Already two or three enthusiastic members of the congregation have subscribed a fund close to $100,000, so ample funds for carrying out Dr. Gordon's ambitions plans will be forthcoming.

"It is a pleasure to tell you Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best cough medicine I have ever used," writes Mrs. Frank Campbell, of Layton, Ga. "I have used it with all my children and the results have been highly satisfactory." For sale by all dealers.

Dominick Dominant

Boxing fans attended in large numbers at the Blairmore opera house on Saturday night last to witness the much talked-of and widely advertised bout between Alf Greenwood, of New York, who has received much prominence in the newspapers of Calgary and other points, and Dominick Marshall the intrepid star of the Crows' Nest Pass.

The main bout started at 10:50 p.m., after a clever five-round preliminary, in which Danny Dunlop won the decision.

Greenwood arrived on the scene rather late, in consequence of which it was suggested by him that the bout be limited to ten rounds instead of the advertised fifteen, feeling of course that he did not need even the ten rounds to knock out his man.

However Dominick arose to the occasion and after some rousing cheers quietly seated himself in the right-hand east corner of the ring. Greenwood came out from under his cover in the opposite corner a minute or so later.

Fred Baynor was chosen as referee, with two other competent judges and time-keepers.

James Burrows announced the fact that Alf desired the number of rounds to be ten instead of fifteen, and requested the pleasure of the audience. The response was unanimous to the effect that the fight go ahead for 10 rounds.

Alf hopped around like a beetle for a while and equal honors were returned for the first four rounds, a feeling of generalism telling upon Alf's face right through. But in the fifth round conditions changed considerably, and at times the direct rights and lefts from his opponent made him wonder which was east or west or north or south or up or down.

Dominick rained in storms of effective punches to the face and head while Alf's vision faded to dazed, an opening in Dominick's defense. For two or three rounds following Alf appeared dazed, and at times felt inclined to lay back and wait till the storm abated. But alas, the storm increased in violence, once in a while finding Alf standing like a prop against the wall or the ropes, or in a crouch thinking out where Dominick would hit next.

Alf would get in some heavy wallops on Dominick's head, which the latter asserted rounded good to him and just reminded him that Alf was still in the ring.

Before the finish of the ninth round Alf wanted to call the fight off by claiming a "foul," but this complaint not being accepted by the referee or the judges, he was requested to keep at it, or lose by default. After stepping outside the ropes, he was yelled on, the back and urged to return, and decided to try once more. Now came the busiest moment, and although Greenwood with all his past experience prompting him he failed to land anything effective on Dominick. Excitement ran high in the tenth round, before the finish of which Alf left the ring and stepped down to discuss matters with parties in the audience. He was asked by the referee to return to the ring or lose by default in the decision. Alf came back into the ring, when the judge announced their decision as a draw. How such a decision was arrived at was a puzzle to 90 per cent of those present, and caused considerable dissatisfaction, for right through the game Dominick never faulted; was the best in defence and generalship, and never gave any manner of inclination to quit; while Alf apparently asked the crowd from the start, first in desiring that the game be limited to ten rounds instead of the fifteen which was scheduled and which all paid for and expected to witness, and in leaving the ring on two occasions while his opponent stood in readiness for honest play.

In the opinion of most of the onlookers, it was fortunate for Alf that the other five rounds were not to be fought, for as Dominick has proven on previous occasions that his best is after the ninth or tenth round, there is little doubt but that he would have defied the judges in giving such a decision as that declared by them.

If Alf desires to claim that he was not treated squarely or that the bout was not a clean one on Dominick's part, the latter is willing to meet him again at any time and before any audience anywhere.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY

An eminent scientist, the other day, gave his opinion that the most wonderful discovery of recent years was the discovery of Zamb-Buk. Just think! As soon as a single thin layer of Zamb-Buk is applied to a wound or sore, such injury is insured against blood poisoning. Not one species of microbe has been found that Zamb-Buk does not kill!

Then again. As soon as Zamb-Buk is applied to a sore, or a cut, or to skin disease, it stops the smothering. That is why children are such friends of Zamb-Buk. They care nothing for the science of the thing. All they know is that Zamb-Buk stops their pain. Mothers should never forget this.

Again. As soon as Zamb-Buk is applied to a wound or to a diseased part, the cells beneath the skin's surface are so stimulated that new, healthy tissue is quickly formed. This forming of fresh healthy tissue from below is Zamb-Buk's secret of healing. The tissue thus formed is worked up to the surface and literally casts off the diseased tissue already there. This is why Zamb-Buk cures are permanent.

Only the other day Mr. Marsh, of 101 Deolomier Ave., Montreal, called upon the Zamb-Buk Company and told them that for over twenty-five years he had been a martyr to eczema. His hands were at one time so covered with sores that he had to sleep in gloves. Four years ago Zamb-Buk was introduced to him, and in a few months it cured him. To-day—over three years after his cure of a disease he had for twenty-five years—he is still cured, and has had no trace of any return of the disease.

All druggists sell Zamb-Buk at 50c. box, or we will send free trial box if you send this advertisement and a 1c. stamp (to pay return postage). Address Zamb-Buk Co., Ontario.

A gentleman had been dining with his wife in a restaurant, and when his bill was brought to him, remarked to the waiter: "Water, one item is wrong here. We didn't have three plates of soup. We only had two."

DANGER PERIOD OF WOMAN'S LIFE FROM 45 to 50

Interesting Experience of Two Women—Their Statements Worth Reading.

White Oak, Ont.—"At Change of Life when doctors could do no more and I was given up by my friends, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound came to the front and did wonders for me. I had been having female troubles for years, my head troubled me severely at times, I had bearing down pains and backache. I felt as if I was passing from excessive flowing. I recommend your Compound highly and do all I can to advertise it as a genuine woman's medicine." Mrs. SYLVIA STANLEY, White Oak, Ontario.

The Case of Mrs. Kirilch.
Circleville, Ohio—"I can truthfully say that I never had anything do me so much good during Change of Life as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I had taken one half a bottle of it I began to feel better, and I have continued taking it. My health is better than it has been for several years. If all women would take it they would escape untold pain and misery at this time of life." Mrs. ALICE KIRILCH, 888 W. 11th St., Circleville, Ohio.

The Change of Life is one of the most critical periods of a woman's existence. At such times women may rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Something New in Cause and Effect

President Hadley, of Yale, was telling that it is a newer thing to have written examinations of students instead of the oral ones, which were the custom years ago. He illustrated it thus:

A professor was examining a student who had the reputation of being more quick-witted than studious. You have attended the moral philosophy class; have you not? asked the professor.

Yes, sir.

You probably heard lectures on various subjects. Did you ever hear one on cause and effect?

Does an effect ever go before a cause?

Yes, sir.

Give me an instance.

A man wheeling a barrow

This was the end of that examination.

It Will Cure a Cold.—Colds are the commonest ailments of mankind and if neglected may lead to serious conditions. Dr. "Famous" Electric Oil will relieve the bronchial passages of inflammation speedily and thoroughly and will strengthen them against subsequent attack. And as it eases the inflammation it will stop the cough because it allays all irritation in the throat. Try it and prove it.

A Trap Which Failed.
Mr. J. Johnson Abraham in his book, "The Surgeon's Log," describes a peculiar adventure at Port Said. Sounds of music were heard from a house, and as if at a signal, says Mr. Abraham, the decrepit chariot stood still, my rails got down, and suggested I should go in. I thought rapidly and then followed him. It was queer, and I wanted to know. He led the way upstairs into a large room, where several men were playing roulette. None took any notice of me, but apparently the bank was having a very bad time of it. Everybody was winning. The music from the automatic piano was deafening. I looked on silently for some time, and then made a move for the door. An oily-looking Greek intercepted me. Won't you try your luck? he said. No, I'm not drunk enough, I answered.

He shrugged his shoulders and I passed out. On the stairs I paused and then stole silently back. The music had ceased and all the confederates who had been playing so feverishly and winning so much had ceased also, and were preparing to resume the silent my advent had so fruitlessly interrupted.

How a Cross Was Won.
A French reporter encountered in a little village of the South of France a gardener, who were pinned on his knees, steady blows, the ribbon of the Legion of Honor. "Naturally," the newspaper man desired to know how he got it. The gardener, who like many of his trade, seemed to be a simple fellow, was aware of meeting an old and warlike demand, but finally he began: "Oh, I don't know how I got it! I was at Buzelles with the rest of the battery. All the officers were killed, then down went all the non-commissioned officers. Bang! bang! bang! By and by all the soldiers were down but I was the last shot, and naturally was doing what I could to keep off the Bavarians. Well, a general came and says he, 'Where's your officers?' All down, says I. 'Where's your gunners?' says he. All down but me, says I. And you've been fighting here all afternoon, says he. I couldn't let 'em come and get the guns, could I? I say, and then he put me down, and I was probably because there was nobody else there to put it on."

The Judge's Explanation.
The average jurymen is not very well versed in the fine distinctions of the law. On those he needs instruction from the Judge. It must have been a very obtuse jurymen, however, when the case was not perfectly clear after, relating to the following explanation by a Judge in the Far West:

Gentlemen, he stated, with admirable lucidity, murder is where a man is murdered. The killer in such case is a murderer. Now, murder by poison is just as much murder as murder with a gun, pistol, or knife. It is the simple act of murdering that constitutes murder in the eye of the law. Don't let the idea of murder and manslaughter confound you. Murder is one thing; manslaughter is quite another. Consequently, if there has been a murder, and it is not manslaughter, then it must be murder. Don't let this point escape you.

Self murder has nothing to do with this case. According to Blackstone and other legal writers, one man cannot commit felony de se upon another; again, man's opinion.

Gentlemen, murder is murder. The murder of a brother is called fratricide; the murder of a father is called parricide, but that does not enter into this case. As I have said before, murder is murder. Live and let live. You will consider your verdict, gentlemen, and make up your minds according to the law and the evidence not forgetting the explanation I have given you.

The Alexander Band

It was a great day in the history of that small town. The currents and cross-currents of politics had swirled up and down the main street, made the names throughout the community, and led the most prominent citizens to make foolish bets on the election. Patriotism was playing hand with megalomaniacal notions of the dictates of politeness. The merest whisper would have precipitated the use of firearms and halberds. The speaker of the day took his place on the platform, looked as wise as a flock of owls, and prepared to sweep the crowd right off its feet. He began with a reference to his noble candidates, who, full of patriotism, ambition, and a desire to get the salary, was willing to forego himself election and to conquer you, most of you, may all know; he began, but was interrupted by an offensive-looking person who let out this discouraging comment:

If we don't we must be crazy. God knows we've been told about it often enough.

WORK AND WORRY WEAKEN WOMEN

New Health and Strength Obtained by the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

It is useless to tell a hard-working woman to take life easily and not to worry. Every woman who has a home; every girl in offices, shops and factories, is subject to more or less worry. These cannot be avoided. But it is the duty of every woman and every girl to save her strength as much as possible and to build up her system to meet any unusual demands. Her future health depends upon it. A breakdown in health, the blood must be kept rich, red and pure. Nothing can keep the blood in this condition so well as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They strengthen the nerves, restore the appetite, bring the glow of health to pallid cheeks, and renewed energy to listless people. Women cannot always rest when they should, but they can keep their strength and keep disease away by the occasional use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Or if a breakdown has come unexpectedly they can obtain new health through this same medicine. Mrs. M. Thomas, 17th Street, Toronto, says: "For several years I was almost a constant invalid, unable to do my housework and spending much of my time in bed. My nerves seemed worn out and I was so run down that all my friends thought I was in a hopeless decline. I was as pale as a corpse; I was as bloodless as if I cut my finger it would not bleed; my limbs were swollen far beyond their usual size. At the least exertion my heart would palpitate violently, and I frequently had fainting spells. I was under treatment by good doctors, but it did me no good. Then one day my husband brought home some Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I began taking them. They seemed to go to the root of the trouble, and in the course of a few weeks the improvement they were making was quite plain. Gradually as I continued taking the pills, the swelling of my limbs disappeared; the weak spells came less and less frequently; my appetite greatly improved, and finally I was completely cured and able to do my housework with ease. Hillcrest Observations

We are pleased to state that the second number of the "Observer" proved to be a great success, a large demand being made for the paper. As stated in last week's issue the "Observer" will in future be on sale every Saturday morning at the Co-operative Society's store and if you wish to keep in touch with local events you can do so better than purchase your paper regularly. It is expected that by next spring the "Observer" will have proved to be what the residents of Hillcrest have so often wished for, namely a first-class, up-to-date, interesting and unprejudiced weekly account of happenings and events primarily concerning Hillcrest people. Early next year the form of the paper will be changed and the Hillcrest notes will be printed in a paper dealing entirely with Hillcrest and Hillcrest only.

Union hotel is at present undergoing extensive alterations so far as the heating and plumbing systems are concerned. There much needed improvements will in all probability be completed during the current week. John Grimshaw, who recently returned from a trip with a survey party connected with the Geological Survey Department of Department of Mines, had himself torn to fracture several ribs a couple of weeks ago. He was not aware of his injury until last Thursday, when, on account of a severe pain in the side, he consulted the local physician who advised him of the fact that he had to spend several weeks of indolent ease if he can resume his laborious toil once again.

Last Saturday night Hillcrest was practically depopulated, a large number making their regular monthly trip to the "metropolis of the Pass." While there several took in the fight between Dominick Marshall and Alf Greenwood and report very favorably upon the showing of the local champion. All the followers of the boxing game in the Pass and particularly those in Hillcrest hope that when next these two meet the result will not be the same, but that the better man will show his superiority and be awarded the honors. These "draws" are getting to be rather ancient gage and the sporting public does not care to be fooled systematically. So, Dominick, we look to you to prove yourself worthy as the middleweight champion of the "Crows' Nest Pass."

Young, W. J. McGowan and Fred Allot, who put up arguments of the stone-wall kind, that take some hammering to knock over. The negative was upheld by H. D. McKay, E. Acherson and J. Finlayson, who in turn did justice to their subject and showed that they were as able as the next fellow to pile up points in their favor. The judges decided that the affirmative had the best of it by 5 points. Throughout the evening everybody enjoyed themselves immensely and will look forward each week to the debates which are arranged for.

The high wind of Sunday played havoc with property in town and hardly a building on Main Street escaped without some damage. In some parts of the town buildings were overturned and in one case a two-flat shed about 5x20 was lifted bodily and lodged on its side about twenty-five feet away and on an elevation two feet above its original position. Had not another building obstructed its course, in all likelihood the Guss-ruks of Burns would have had to solve the mystery of how the building was conveyed to that lofty position.

Winding Up Affairs

Two hundred and twenty seven local improvement districts, comprising the settled areas of the province of Alberta, wound up their affairs on November 15, when the rural municipality act, passed by the last legislature, became operative. The change involves complete revision of the map of Alberta in the government of the farming communities.

Fifty-six rural municipalities have been constituted with wide powers of self-government. In addition there will be 110 districts, with the limited previously granted to smaller communities. Nominations for councilors of the rural municipalities will be made on December 2, the elections taking place a week later. Nominations and elections will take place in January in the districts where residents have not taken advantage of the act.

Meanwhile the departments of municipal affairs of Alberta, headed by Hon. Charles Stewart, minister, and John Perrie, deputy minister, will have charge of affairs. The department has two auditors at work supervising the work of winding up the affairs of the local improvement districts. Just what this means will be better understood when it is known that the province of Alberta is 50 per cent larger than the state of Texas and that the settled areas are more widely apart than the Lone Star State.

"The work is going ahead in a satisfactory way," Mr. Stewart said, "and I believe the people will be satisfied with it."

Opposed to Admission of I.W.W.'s Into Canada

Collingwood Shrieber, supervising engineer for the dominion government, said in Edmonton recently that 15,000 men would be required on construction work if the Grand Trunk Pacific railway is to be completed by 1914. Between 4,000 and 5,000 men are at work on the division between Edmonton and western British Columbia, he added, and there is little prospect this year of the number being materially increased. The war in the Balkan states, he said, has taken thousands of the country, while on the western end of steel, in British Columbia, the industrial workers of world have laid off the work. Mr. Shrieber is strongly opposed to the admission of I.W.W. leaders into Canada.

Governors of the University of Alberta have received a permit from the building inspector of Edmonton to erect a dormitory with a frontage of 800 feet, costing $200,000. This will provide accommodation for 150 students. Construction work is to begin early next spring. One hundred and fifty students are housed in two dormitories, each having a frontage of 400 feet, but the present quarters are inadequate as 250 students are enrolled this season. Every province in the dominion and numerous students in the United States are represented in the student body. It is officially announced that when the final plans have been completed there will be accommodation for fully 5,000 students.

A number of friends were at the depot to greet their journey with best wishes for a happy and prosperous union, and a liberal supply of rice. Coleman Bulletin.
